The Belgian company indu+, famous for its innovative outdoor kitchens with induction technology, is launching the 'ICEBOY': a trolley combining a mobile bar and a handy piece of occasional furniture. With this stylish trolley you will keep your drinks deliciously chilled. The ICEBOY has a sober design, combining black, powder-coated aluminium and teak. The box with its lid keeps the contents extremely cool as it is double walled and insulated. You can use the ICEBOY with or without ice cubes. If you completely fill the cool box, it becomes a giant champagne cooler on wheels! With its sliding top you have a generous amount of workspace and when closed, the bar becomes a handy piece of occasional furniture. The back offers space for storing glasses and there is also enough space for bottles, snacks and herbs. After use, simply drain the water from the container using the tap at the bottom of the cool box.

In short, the ICEBOY is the ideal piece of furniture for those deliciously warm summer evenings making it possible for you to serve your cocktails in the presence of your guests. So not show cooking, but show serving or show shaking when making cocktails!
